JOS. A. BOWERS IS DEAD

THE END CAME PEACEFULLY AT HOME ON WEST BROADWAY THIS AFTERNOON.

BEEN BEDFAST SINCE SATURDAY NIGHT

His Wife Died One Month Ago Tomorrow and From That Hour Decline of the Husband Had Been Remarkably Rapid.

Joseph A. Bowers, former sheriff of Pettis county and for twenty years past out-of-town circulator for the old Democrat and present Democrat-Sentinel, died at his home, 210 West Broadway, at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon.

He had been confined to his bed since last Saturday night, the result of a complete breakdown of the nervous system that attacked him last Saturday while at Knob Noster and Lamonte on business for the paper, against the advice of the management, who realized that he was ill and counseled that he remain at home for a few days' rest.

In truth, it may be said that Mr. Bowers died of grief. One month ago tomorrow his beloved wife, to whom he had been married thirty-seven years, died, after an illness of fourteen months.

Mr. Bowers was at Cole Camp at the time of her demise, but was summoned home by 'phone, he having been informed that his wife had suffered a relapse.

Mr. Bowers did not know that his wife was dead until the Cole Camp liveryman drove up in front of the Bowers dwelling and the husband saw crepe hanging on the door.

From that moment he apparently lost all interest in life. For the sake of his children he bore up until after the funeral, when he gave way to utter despair. To the writer of these lines he said:

"I won't be here long. I feel myself slipping. I cannot live a year."

All efforts of relatives, friends and office associates to cheer him up failed, but he insisted on continuing at his work.

Last Saturday morning, almost too weak to walk, he came to the office and insisted on making a trip to Knob Noster and Lamonte for the Democrat-Sentinel.

He departed at 7:15 a. m. and left the train at Knob Noster. An hour later he returned to Lamonte, where he remained until the arrival of eastbound train No. 8.

A friend at Lamonte telephoned the office that Mr. Bowers was very ill, and some one had better meet him at the depot on the arrival of the train. His two daughters, Mary and Bessie, and an attache of the Democrat-Sentinel helped him to a carriage immediately on his arrival and he was taken direct to his home, where he remained to the end.

Joseph A. Bowers was born at Moore's Hill, Indiana, in 1842, and was educated at Moore's Hill college. When a young man he went to Cincinnati, O., where for a number of years he was employed in the John Shilito dry goods store, then the largest establishment of its kind in that city.

Resigning his position there, he removed to Austin, Texas, where he lived until 1874, when he came to Pettis county, and here he had resided continuously since.

February 28, 1872, Mr. Bowers was married to Miss Marian Alice Bouldin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bouldin. Of this union six children were born. One, Marian Alice, died in 1885, aged 2 years. The five that survive are: Clark Bouldin, of Clarksdale, Miss.; Mary W. and Bessie G., teachers in the public schools here; Mrs. E. T. Hodges, of Cairo, Ill., and Joseph A., Jr., of this city.

Mr. Bowers was a member of the Broadway Presbyterian church, and as husband, father and friend there was none to excel him. He was a man of strong convictions, but the night was never too dark nor the weather too cold for him to leave his fireside to aid an acquaintance who stood in need.

Mr. Bowers served as deputy sheriff under the late Lemuel Murray, and on the latter's death Mr. Bowers was appointed to fill out the unexpired term. He was then elected to the office, and served one term most acceptably.

Mr. Bowers, during his residence in Pettis county, also spent a short time on a farm two miles east of Hughesville, and for a year conducted a livery barn on West Main street.

In politics Mr. Bowers was a democrat, and he served two terms as coal oil inspector of Sedalia, under the administration of Governor Dockery.

The funeral arrangements will not be perfected until relatives at a distance are heard from, but it is expected idt will be held Saturday forenoon.

Dynamite Did No Good.

Niagara, N. Y., April 22.—The attempt at dynamiting the ice-jam here which was made about noon today was an apparent failure. Two charges of fifty pounds each exploded under the head of the jam, but failed to open the channel.

TO FREE THE KIDNAPPER

AN ATTEMPT LAST NIGHT TO RELEASE JAMES R. BOYLE FROM MERCER JAIL.

WAS TO SAW THE BARS FROM OUTSIDE

Mrs. Boyle's Identity Finally Cleared —An Attorney for the State Says She Is Helen McDermott, of Chicago.

Mercer, Pa., April 22.—An attempt to liberate James R. Boyle from the Mercer county jail was frustrated last night, according to the police. A guard discovered a ladder resting against the jail wall directly under the window of Boyle's cell.

It was apparently the intention to saw the bars from the outside. The jail was watched closely the rest of the night, but there were no developments.

Mrs. Boyle, the alleged wife of the abductor of Willie Whitla, is a mystery no longer. Last night it developed that she is Helen McDermott, of Chicago.

Previous stories to the effect that she is a member of a prominent and wealthy family are without foundation. T. C. Cochran, an attorney representing the prosecution, admitted last night that Mrs. Boyle is Helen McDermott.

It is said now that it has been the intention of the prosecution to make public Mrs. Boyle's real identity before the beginning of the trial.

Attorney Stranahan said last night that Mrs. Boyle's brother had visited her once. This was some time ago. At this time he had a lengthy talk with his sister and returned to Chicago to prepare means for her defense.

Since that time funds have come from Chicago regularly to Mrs. Boyle. During the latter part of the week a deposit of $1,000 was made in Mrs. Boyle's favor here.

Facts in regard to her alleged visits in Kansas City, St. Louis, Denver, East St. Louis, Cleveland, St. Joseph, Mo., and Brooklyn are to be made public by the prosecuting counsel.

LADIES KNOWN IN SEDALIA

At the D. A. R. Meeting in Washington Today.

At the request of Mrs. Donald McLean, retiring president, Mrs. John R. Walker, of Kansas City, today made one of the speeches seconding the nomination of Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the "regular" candidate for president general of the D. A. R.

Mrs. McLean places a high estimate upon Mrs. Walker's ability as an oratress and at first asked that she put Mrs. Scott in nomination.

It was agreed, however, that Mrs. Scott must be nominated from Illinois, so Mrs. Harris Hickox, of Springfield, who has frequently visited Mrs. C. E. Messerly here, was chosen.

TWO BANKRUPTCY CASES

Prof. O. D. Noble and Walter Reynolds, of This City.

Oliver D. Noble, formerly manager of the defunct Hills Business college in this city, has applied to have his debts liquidated through proceedings in bankruptcy. His liabilities amount to $4,650, while his assets are nothing.

Walter Reynolds, an ex-M., K. & T. conductor, has also applied for relief under the bankruptcy act. His liabilities are $212. His assets are nothing.

Charged With Writing Both Rankin and Markey Leters, Denver Barber Is Arrested by United States Officers.

Denver, Col., April 22.— Charged with having written letters to David Rankin, of Tarkio, Mo., and J. B. Markey, of Gilman City, Mo., demanding that they send him $15,000 and $10,000, respectively, on pain of death, and destruction of their property, Charles B. Frost, a barber, aged 34 years, was arrested last afternoon by a United State deputy marshal, accompanied by Postoffice Inspector H. G. Durand.

Frost, who is a son of John W. Frost, of Grant City, Mo., retired, was taken before United States Commissioner Hinsdale, where he pleaded not guilty and was sent to jail in default of $3,000 bond.

The two letters upon which the charge against Frost is based were mailed in Denver April 8 and 13, respectively, and were unsigned. They demanded that the money be sent to Denver and said that death would follow speedily if the demand was not met. Both were in the same handwriting, written in pencil, and on the same kind of paper.

The letter to Markey also contained threats against three of his children who live in Kansas City.

Markey has a son living in Greeley, Col., who furnished the postoffice inspectors with valuable information toward connecting Frost with the writing of the letters. Frost has a brother, Jacob H. Frost, who is a barber at St. Joseph, Mo.

David Rankin, of Tarkio, Mo., who owns the largest farm in the world—25,640 acres—will be 84 years old in May. His land is worth from $75 to $126 an acre. The last inventory of his holdings showed a total valuation of more than $3,000,000.

It takes 700 teams to do his work in the busy season of haying, corn-ploughing and harvesting. He employes something like 300 men during this season of the year.

An examination of the final statement a year ago shows astonishing facts. The number of cattle sold was 7,539, bringing $172,520. The number of hogs sold was $8,249, bringing $112,846.

Besides his big farming industries and undertakings, he is interested in many other lines. He owns a good portion of a bank, hotel, opera house and the principal portion of Tarkio, besides land in every direction from the town.

Mr. Rankin is a typical farmer of Scotch-Irish descent. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He wears gold-rimmed eyeglasses that fasten over his ears; his beard is thick, trimmed evenly and is quite gray.

SHORT WEIGHT IN FLOUR

THE ADVANCE IN PRICE MAKES NO DIFFERENCE IN CERTAIN INSTANCES.

ARE WATCHING MILLERS CLOSELY NOW

One at Claflin, Kansas, Is Charged With Selling Sacks of Flour Under Weight—Inspectors Are at Work.

Great Bend, Kas., April 22.—There is trouble ahead for millers in Kansas who fail to give full weight in their sacks of flour. Since the price of wheat went up the inspectors have been unusually alert in hunting for short weights.

As the result of an investigation by John Kleinhaus, inspector for the state board of health, warrants have been issued for a miller in Claflin, who is charged with selling sacks of flour twelve cunces under weight.

Mr. Kleinhaus found out the other day that a Larned miller was sending out sacks of flour as much as three and one-half pounds short in weight.

The miller promised to call in all his flour on sale over the state and resack it at full weight if he were allowed immunity from prosecution.

He promised to turn over to the inspector all correspondence and shipping bills as proof that he had resacked the flour. Upon these promises no action was taken against the miller.

Paid $2,000 Death Benefit.

Dan Clifford's insurance in the Catholic Knights of America, amounting to $2,000, has been paid to the beneficiaries, his two daughters, Misses Anna and Mary.

FIGHT OVER STATE FAIR

SPRINGFIELD ALL STIRRED UP OVER PEORIA'S RAID ON THE CAPITAL.

MANY ROOTERS ARRIVED THERE TODAY

Mayor Schnepp Convenes Council in Special Session and Much Noise Follows—Deep Interest in the Result.

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—Springfield and the legislators are in a state of intense excitement over the fight between the two great cities—Springfield with its 60,000 population and Peoria with its 80,000—over Representative Black's bill providing for the removal of the state fair from this city to Peoria. Delegates from Peoria have opened headquarters at the St. Nicholas hotel.

A special train with "rooters" and brass band arrived early today to flood the house with noise when the bill comes up for second reading, and when Springfield will attempt to strike out the enacting clause.

Yesterday Mayor Schnepp, of Springfield, summoned the council into special session. Resolutions were adopted protesting against Peoria's move. Proclamations were issued, bells were rung, whistles blown, a big mass meeting was held last night at which noted men spoke and plans have been laid to offset Peoria's demonstration this morning.

It is by all odds the biggest stir of the session, and the hotels are jammed with enthusiasts. Peoria has raised $200,000 and claims that much more money will be subscribed. This and a site will be offered as an inducement.

Springfield argues that it would be folly to abandon the state fair grounds and buildings here, which they estimate to be worth $1,000,000.

Among prominent Peorians here are Mayor Thomas O'Connor, C. A. Peterson, Frank J. Quinn, B. F. Long, F. Pfeiffer, M. M. Baker, Garrett Deforest Kinney, Nathan Cole, Frank Miller, W. H. Taylor, President J. K. Dickerson, of the state board of agriculture, and Members Lafayette Funk of Shirley; I. H. Hopkins of Princeton; G. H. Madden, of Mendota, and C. H. Woods, of Springfield, are on hand.

Kansas Has Democratic League.

Topeka, April 22.—An application for a charter for the Kansas Democratic league, was filed here today. The league is said to have the support of a majority of the prominent Kansas democrats and its ultimate aim is to establish democratic newspapers in every county in the state. Henderson Martin, chairman of the democratic state committee, is the head of the new organization.

Only One Missionary Was Killed.

London, April 22.—A message from Tarsus, Turkey, today today declares that D. M. Rogers was the only missionary killed at that place in the riot last week.

Wheat Fell Heavily Today.

Chicago, April 22.—The sensational bear raid on wheat continued today. July near the close touched 109⅝ while May closed at 121.

OPPOSED TO FREE OIL

INDEPENDENT OIL PRODUCERS MADE A PROTEST TO SENATE COMMITTEE.

SAY IT WILL BENEFIT THE STANDARD

Claim Is Made That Octopus Owns Many Mexican Wells and It Is to Their Interest to Take Off the Tariff.

Washington, April 22.—Independent oil producers and refiners were given a hearing before the senate committee on finance today to protest against the free petroleum feature of the Payne tariff bill.

The principal speakers were N. V. V. Franchet, of Olean, N. Y.; C. D. Chamberlain and W. W. Tarbell, of Philadelphia, brother of Ida M. Tarbell, the magazine writer.

The speakers declared that as the Standard Oil Co. is heavily interested in the Mexican oil fields, it was to the interest of that company to get as much crude petroleum from Mexico, free of duty, as possible. It was pointed out that petroleum could be produced in the Mexican fields at 21 cents a barrel, compared with a cost of more than 40 cents a barrel in Oklahoma.

At the conclusion of their arguments the delegation was requested to submit briefs.

HAD EIGHT ADDITIONS

At East Broadway Christian Church Last Night.

The greatest interest was manifested in the gospel service at the East Broadway Christian church last night since the beginning of the meeting. This caused a decision to continue the special efforts until Sunday night.

The illustrated story, "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" was postponed until Monday evening. There were seven who made the "Good Confession" last evening, and one added by transferring membership. There will be baptismal services both Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Tonight Evangelist Williamson will preach on the subject, "Reaping What We Sow." Prof. Ridenour will sing as an invitation solo:

"Another Day's Ended; the sermon is through,
And Christ's invitation is given to you;
'Confess before men and escape sin's dark snare,
With Father and angels my glory you'll share'"

MEETING OF CLIO LADIES

Final Session of the Season to Be Held Next Thursday.

The members of Clio held their regular weekly meeting this morning.

Miss Jennie Morey was chairman of the meeting. The subject discussed was, "The Present Condition of France." Mrs. R. M. Garrett and Miss Florence Poteet took part.

The final meeting of the season will be held next Thursday.

Mrs. Sallie Potter Sneed and Miss Laura Gentry are the delegates to the state meeting at Springfield, Mo., on May 5.

No Agreement Yet Reached.

Constantinople, April 22.—No agreement had yet been reached between the representatives of the sultan and the young Turks up to late this afternoon.

NEW YORK TAKES A HAND

EMPIRE STATE WILL BE HEARD FROM IN THE MISSOURI RATE TANGLE.

WALL STREET COULD NOT REMAIN QUIET

The Policy of the Roads at the Chicago Conference Saturday Will Be Dictated by Eastern Executives.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—Executive officers of the Missouri lines have all signified their intention of attending the conference called in Chicago on Saturday morning to take up the Missouri passenger rate question.

There is evidently a desire on the part of all interests to settle the question as speedily as possible. From the attitude assumed yesterday by some of the lines it was very clear that New York had been heard from and that the highest executive officers would dictate the policy to be pursued in solving the Missouri rate problem.

The Gould lines have made no secret of their desire to maintain a 3-cent maximum basis, pending an appeal of the state to the United States supreme court. Mileage books and merchants' rates and excursion rates would be granted if the 3-cent basis should be adopted. The Santa Fe is said to favor the 3 cent basis and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas has favored that basis from the start.

The independent action announced by the Burlington and the Rock Island-Frisco lines on the 2½-cent basis will be well considered at the Chicago conference, and it is thought that the other leading interests may be induced to adopt that basis, providing it is absolutely established as the maximum and minimum, eliminating all milcage concessions and all forms of reduced rates, except commutation.

It is possible, however, that the notice of independent action may be canceled, under direction of the New York office and that a solid front may be maintained on a 3-cent basis.

The legal department of some of the lines advocate a settlement of the question on the 2½-cent basis, believing that it will do much to restore good feeling throughout the state, and put an end to a costly controversy.

When the suit instituted by the circuit attorney at the request of the governor in the St. Louis circuit court is called up tomorrow before Judge Williams, it is probable that a continuance will be asked, pending the action of the executive officers in Chicago on Saturday.

FIVE WOMEN IN DANGER

Are American Missionaries and Have Appealed for Aid.

Beirut, April 22.—Five American women missionaries are in danger at Hadjim, Asiatic Turkey. One of them, Miss Lambet, has sent a message down to the coast asking for 'mmediate help. The women are entirely alone and defenseless.

The villages surrounding Hadjim are in flames and Hadjim itself is invested by nomad tribes.

JOSEPH A. BOWERS.

After many years of faithful and devoted service to this paper, first when it was the Sedalia Democrat, and for over two years the Democrat-Sentinel, Joseph A. Bowers, country circulator, passed away today at a little after the noon hour.

Mere words are inadequate to express the sincere sorrow and grief of every person connected with the establishment, among whom are some who have been associated with him daily during all the years that he served so efficiently and well.

To know him best was to love him best; to understand, appreciate and admire the sterling qualities that distinguished his upright, unsullied manhood.

Of few words, quiet and unostentatious, his heart was full of the milk of human kindness, and thousands there are who can testify to acts of goodness and charity which he performed and hid away from the eyes of a curious world.

Faithful to his duty, devoted to his paper with a more than ordinary devotion, loyal to its policies, he was ever ready to do battle for it upon all occasions, regarding it almost as if it was in fact a living personality, and loving it as such. Its friends were his friends; its enemies, his also.

He was an honest man to the very core of his being, and of the thousands of dollars he handled for the paper not one penny went astray in all the twenty years of his connection with it.

What more can be said of any man than can so truthfully be said of Joseph A. Bowers—that he met every requirement of this life, was a tender, faithful and loving husband and father, a good citizen and an honest man.

And now he sleeps well.

SENATOR ALDRICH'S OPTIMISM.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee and the leading financial and fiscal expert of the upper house of congress, takes a decidedly optimistic view of the country's immediate commercial and industrial future. The senator hails the signs of returning prosperity with a vision so confident that it must be contagious. He arrives at this engaging conclusion from observation in general and from the year's growing revenue in particular. He appears to be thoroughly satisfied in his own mind that the nation is entering upon another era of good times and that before the close of December the revival will have placed business in a practically normal condition.

Proceeding on this theory, Senator Aldrich estimates, from an elaboration of contemplated expenditures and the increased revenue that should accompany restored prosperity, that by 1911 the deficit will be wiped out and that there will be a substantial surplus that year. His belief that the nation will be able to make both ends meet in that year is based more upon the increase of revenue resulting from business revival than from the increases that will be caused by the new tariff bill, which latter amount he places at $8,000.000 the first year the law is in operation.

He, however, figures that additional revenue will be secured by reforms in the administration of the act. Senator Aldrich's table of expenditures and receipts shows a predicted growth of upwards of $54,000,000 in the latter next year. The following year, 1911, he thinks the receipts will make a further gain of $40.000.000. He estimates an increase in revenue of approximately $50.000,000 a year for the next two years.

The disbursements for 1910, the appropriations for which have been made, are $25.000.000 above those of the present year. For 1911, however, the finance committee chairman provides a reduction in expenditures of $35.000.000, from which he is able after wiping out the accumulated deficits, to deduce a surplus of $30,000.000.

His belief that congress will cut down expenses two years hence by some $35,000,000 is a precarious assumption. Congress has shown no disposition to retrench even in the face of deficits nearing the $100,000,000 mark, and should the revenue show marked increase it is doubtful if the stong temptation to spend with a lavish hand could restrained.

Senator Aldrich makes the eminently sound point that if the revenue should fail to meet expenses it is the duty of congress to economize, and public entiment will support him in this timely advice. If an abundance of prosperity yields a fat treasury there can be no objection to the prosecution of improvements on a widening scale, but if it does not, congress should hold expenditures within receipts.

The people of the United States would prefer going a little slowly with public works and naval development to paying tea and coffee taxes. They have no taste for the taxing expedients to which England has been forced to resort in colonialism and militarism.

LOOKS BAD FOR ABDUL HAMID.

It is something more than a coincidence that the religious war in Asia Minor is being prosecuted simultaneously with the uprising in Constantinople.

While they have no political relation whatever, it is reasonable to assume that the outbreak against the christians at Mersina, Adana, Beirut and other places has been precipitated by the convulsions at Constantinople, which for the time being leaves the government powerless to exercise other than a local restraining hand upon the Mohammedans in the outlying provinces. The Turks could not have selected a more favorable opportunity for attacking the Armenians. The sultan has his hands more than full at the capital, where a dual revolution is now under way. The troops at the capital are all needed there, and those from the provinces, which are in sympathy with the young Turks, have already been concentrated just outside the city for the purpose of forcing old Abdul Hamid to grant their demands or abdicate the throne.

Under these circumstances the government is well nigh powerless to extend effective protection to the christians or missionaries, whose lives are menaced by the fanatics of the Moslem faith.

Germany has not acted hastily in ordering warships to the scene. The situation is liable at any moment to develop extreme gravity, not only within Turkey, but among the powers.

Castro says he has not lost honor, although the most of his cash is gone. Unfortunately for him, boarding house keepers cruelly refuse to trade bacon and liver for honor. They selfishly insist on the cash.

It must be said to the credit of Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis that he did his best to wipe out the deficit in the United States treasury when he assessed the $29,000,000 fine against Uncle John D.

The Omaha Bee suggests that the "frequent contests of wills on the ground that the testator was not of sound mind suggests the question whether a sane man can legally accumulate a big fortune."

It is difficult to see why a tariff-made monopoly is less oppressive than a monopoly created without legal enactment.

The universe will be better off without christianity a billion years hence, says a Chicago professor. Let's wait and see.

Phenomena Awed Europe.

Europe and Asia were covered by fog during the summer of 1783. Says Gilbert White (letter 109): "The summer of the year 1783 was an amazing and a portentous one . . . for, besides the alarming meteors and tremendous thunderstorms . . . the peculiar haze, or smoky fog, that prevailed for many weeks in this island (England) and in every part of Europe, and even beyond its limits, was a most extraordinary appearance. The heat was intense. Calabria and part of the Isle of Sicily were torn and convulsed with earthquakes." Cowper also refers to this phenomenon, in speaking of "nature, with a dim and sickly eye."

LIFE AND THE GAME

LIFE is like a game of chess. The disappointed man may find that his particular game is a failure, because he sits waiting for somebody else to make a play when it's his own move. Things seem to have gone wrong generally. The other man has the bank account. The other man makes the wise investment. The other man annexes to himself all the desirable things of life. What's the trouble? Have you forgotten your part in the game?

Don't sit watching his brilliant moves and allow your own opportunities to get cornered. Take a hand in the game. Start an account with us and get so in earnest, so absorbed in the game that you compel others to watch. That's the way to win. It's your move NOW.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT MILL

George Galbraith, of Holden, Lost His Right Arm.

George Galbraith, who was operating a saw mill at J. C. Rajar's place near Magnolia, in Chilhowee township, had a narrow escape from death while working at his saw mill Tuesday afternoon, says the Warrensburg Star.

Mr. Galbraith was working near the large saw and reached over and attempted to touch the blade to see if it was running hot.

In some manner he was caught by the blade, and but for the prompt action of the engineer, who stopped the engine, he would have been literally cut to pieces.

His right arm was severed between the elbow and shoulder. Medical aid was summoned and the injured man was given every attention possible.

SON OF CATERER SHERRY

Will Leave the Gary, Ind., Cinder Pits and Travel in Europe.

Chicago, Ill., April 22.—After almost a year's labor in the cinder pits of the Gary, Ind., steel mills, Ernest Sherry, son of the proprietor of the New York restaurant that bears his name, secured two months' vacation and left for New York to join his mother on a trip to Europe.

The story believed in Gary is that young Sherry tired of college and declared he would rather work.

W. E. Corey, a friend of his father, offered to find him a place in Gary. Sherry, Sr., agreed to this, if his son would "work hard."

A STILETTO THRUST

Through Her Heart Repaired With Seven Stitches.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22.—Mrs. Catharine DeMaten, of No. 621 Christian street, is lying in a precarious condition in the Pennsylvania hospital with seven stitches in her heart to repair the result of a stileto thrust.

The wound was inflicted, the police claim, by Simeon Irvin, who had been boarding with the family for about two years, and Mrs. DeMaten had repulsed his attentions. The surgeons say the woman has a chance for life.

Eminent Authorities Say

that out-door exercise is needed by the American people. That's all very well, but how can people with rheumatism follow that advice? The answer is very simple—use Ballard's Snow Liniment and the rheumatism will go; leaving you as spry as a colt. Gives quick and permanent relief from rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back and all pains. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Its Glories Departed.

On the southeast corner of Eighteenth and G streets, in Washington, there stands a plain three-story brick building, with a long L, that was once the home of Edward Everett, when, after his service in the house of representatives, from 1824 to 1834, and his succeeding governorship of Massachusetts, he was appointed secretary of state, under President Fillmore, succeeding to the place made vacant by the death of Daniel Webster. Mr. Everett did much for the young country, and through his efforts on the platform Mount Vernon was purchased for the people from the Washingtons.

The Everett house was occupied next by Jefferson Davis, the president of the confederacy, while he was secretary of state for the federal government. Then it fell into the hands of Jacob Thompson, secretary of the interior under Buchanan, who, for his alleged peculations of government funds, sought refuge in Egypt, where he died soon after his flight from his native land. Another distinguished occupant of the house was Capt. Henry A. Wise, who became famous as a naval commander, and who married a daughter of Edward Everett.

Since those days the old house has lost its splendor, and the halls that once resounded to the music of the dance and the rhythm of slippered feet have become the nestling place for spiders and the abiding place of dust and shadows.

A $5 Loan Brought $10 in Return.

Fifty years ago Michael K. McGrath, of St. Louis, loaned an acquaintance $5. Last Saturday he received a letter from the man, whom he had not seen or heard of for half a century. In the letter was a $10 bill to cover the loan and interest.

HAVE NOT SOLD OUT

Farley Bros. Will Continue Business at Same Stand Till They Find Buyer.

An unfounded report has gained circulation that Farley Bros.' marble and granite business has been sold in Sedalia. This is a mistake and just at this time an injustice to the firm. The party who started this report certainly did not know the facts.

Mr. F. L. Farley, when seen, said most positively that their Sedalia business had not been sold to any one as yet, and that at present there was only one party who was even considering buying their business, and that he lives in Maplewood, N. J.

"It is true that we have our business here on the market for sale," said Mr. Farley, "but we have business at other places conducted by my brothers who do not want to sell. Were it not for my poor health, we would not want o sell our Sedalia business either, as we have made money here; myself and family like to live here, and I regret very much that it seems ncessary for me to give up our business and residence here.

"But on account of a series of accidents I have had in the last few years, brought on, or due to the heavy work and lifting connected with the monument business; and, too, an opportunity to engage in a different line more suitable for my capacity elsewhere, my brothers and I decided it was best to sell the Sedalia business, as well as all of our other real estate holdings in Sedalia if we could."

Mr. Farley does not know who started the report that they had sold out here, the report having come to them through customers who came in to place orders with the firm for monuments hence the injustice of such a report, as they are advertising extensively to reduce their large stock of monuments to better enable them to find a customer for their business.

The Democrat-Sentinel keeps pace with the different business changes in Sedalia, and when the Messrs Farley Bros. dispose of their business the public will be notified through these columns. In deference to the firm, therefore, the Democrat-Sentinel is informed by Mr. Farley that they will continue business at their present stand until they find some one that is willing to buy, and pay for one of the best paying business in Sedalia.

NOVELTY OF RAILROAD DEPOT.

Presidential Suite Makes Station at Washington Unique.

Although the new Union station at Washington has many unique points of distinction, being the largest and costliest railway terminal in the world, its most notable novelty is found in the presidential suite. No other ruler of a republic has ever had such an institution, and, indeed, no foreign sovereign has been enabled to enjoy similar apartments of like luxury and convenience.

The aim has been to make the "State Suite" at the new railroad terminal at the American capital as different as possible from the royal apartments in European railway stations, and at the same time have it in keeping with the dignity of the United States as the greatest railroad country on the globe.

The new railway rendezvous for the American president is, for instance, in marked contrast with the royal apartments at the Windsor station in London, which may be cited as representative of European ideals on this subject. At the London station the private waiting rooms for royalty are found in a one-story house of marble and iron, with ornamental doors and windows, set down on the main platform of the station, and thus possessing an individuality of its own instead of being a part of the main station structure, as is the suite of which the president and his family will make use.

FORMERLY A GOVERNESS

MILLIONAIRE OF 73 MARRIES WIDOW WHO IS 43 YEARS HIS JUNIOR.

HIS DAUGHTERS OPPOSED THE WEDDING

F. J. Barney, a Former Car Manufacturer of Dayton, O., Weds Mrs. W. W. Chapman, Formerly Governess in His Home.

Dayton, O., April 22.—E. J. Barney, 73 years old, Dayton's wealthiest citizen and captain of industry, was married Tuesday afternoon to Mrs. Elinor Chapman, 30 years old, the pretty widow of State Senator W. W. Chapman, who for several months served as a governess in the Barney home.

The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's father-in-law, J. K. Chapman, and was attended by Mr. Chapman and his wife only, the two daughters of Mr. Barney not attending the service.

The daughters are Mrs. G. Harries Gorman, who for the past week has been in New York City, and Mrs. Harry Reynolds, wife of one of the city's best known manufacturers.

Barney, until the last few years, was president of the Barney & Smith Car Co., and is reputed to be worth $6,000,000.

Since the death of his wife, nine years ago, with a large corps of servants, he has maintained a magnificent $200,000 residence in Dayton, besides several suburban homes.

The daughters, it is said, have been unalterably opposed to their father's second marriage.

The daughters, it is said, have been a romance which had its beginning in the work of relieving the condition of the blind in Montgomery county.

MYSTERY IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Rich Hill Relatives Investigating Wichita Falls, Case.

Rich Hill, Mo., April 22.—Rich Hill relatives of Mrs. Mary Pearson Johnson have started an investigation of her death, which is supposed to have occurred at Wichita Falls, Texas, on April 13.

When notified of her death, Mrs. Lucy Gray, of Falls City, Neb., a sister, went to Wichita Falls, and her suspicions were aroused by the difficulties put in the way of securing possession of the body and the disappearance of her effects.

She had the body brought here and an autopsy performed. It showed that death was due to carbolic acid poisoning. The family scouts the suicide theory and after a conference Tuesday with officers, Dr. Gray left for Wichita Falls to make an investigation.

Prosecuting Attorney W. B. Dawson, of this (Bates) county, will co-operate with Texas state officials in the inquiry.

SUFFER AND DIE IN A WRECK.

Fishermen Have Terrible Experience Off Coast of Iceland.

A terrible tale of shipwreck was told by the nine survivors of the crew of 13 of the Grimsby trawler Washington, which was wrecked on the coast of Iceland on December 23. The men reached Leith recently, their hands and feet still showing signs of their sufferings during a blizzard. The vessel was wrecked during a heavy gale on the rocks near Selvoyr; and the only boat and two rafts were washed away. Notwithstanding the gigantic seas which swept over the ship, the mate, Alma Kemp, seized a life-line and endeavored to swim with it to the shore 200 yards away. The attempt failed, however, and his shipmates had to haul him back to the ship. So terrible had been his sufferings that he went mad and died within half an hour. Then the second engineer went mad, and as the tide rose the crew had to retreat to the wheelhouse, where they stood up to their waists in water, holding the insane engineer. When the tide receded they found some food, but it was soaked in salt water. When the darkness came on the tide rose again and the vigil of the crew through the long night was a terrible one, and before daylight came two of the hands and the mad engineer had been washed away. In the morning the plight of the shipwrecked sailors was seen by the islanders, and they were rescued by means of a line.

PLOWED UP THE GRAVES

Robert E. Lee Chapter Aroused by Government's Act.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22.—Acting under instructions from Gen. William C. Oates, of the United States War department, a commissioner for the marking of Confederate graves, M. M. Smalley, postmaster of Camp Chase, has plowed up about one-third of the Confederate graveyard at Camp Chase and has stirred up a commotion among the members of the Robert E. Lee chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, whose special charge this cemetery is.

They say the work was undertaken without their knowledge and without any one having requested it. They also say they are utterly at a loss to know why it is being done. Many of the graves are known to be shallow.

Have Lost All Family Ties.

Of the destruction of Messina a by-result is the loss of lineage and all trace of family. Many children, too young to know their surnames or to pronounce them intelligibly, have been rescued, and their names, fortunes, titles, descents and origin have been absolutely cut off. They can tell no more than that they are "Bimbo" or "Bambina," "Nino" or "Nina." Many are obviously children whom women of rank have borne and loved and nurses tended. Italians take root in their provincial cities and it often happens that a family has no connections beyond the walls. Even if distant uncles and aunts exist, they cannot recognize children so young. Documents exist to attest the civil standing of many rescued adults, but the young children begin the world without genealogy or rights.

VICTIM OF CARDS FREED

Mrs. Collins' Theft Fine Paid by a Friend in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, April 22.—Attorney Wallace Mair, of Lexington, Ky., an old friend of Mrs. Eliza B. Collins, the St. Louis society woman jailed on a charge of stealing a set of field glasses, paid the woman's fine and she was released.

Mrs. Collins inherited $30,000 not long ago. She was an ardent devotee of bridge whist. Her passion for gambling took complete possession of her. She lavished her money upon the game, losing heavily.

She took a position in the home of Robert J. Sullivan, East Walnut Hill, and placed her children in the Lexington Episcopal home.

Sullivan missed the glasses and other property and found the goods in a pawnshop, where Mrs. Collins had pawned them for $7.

ATTACKED BY RATTLERS

SAW MILL CREW KILLED 18 OF THEM IN FIGHT NEAR ROCHEPORT.

ALSO FIFTY-FIVE MONSTER BLUE RACERS

Many Other Reptiles Escaped Into the Rocks, After the Slaughter Had Progressed for Fully Half Hour.

Lured from their dens by the whirl and drone of a circular saw, innumerable rattlesnakes and blue racers came from the river bluffs two miles below Rocheport, Mo., last Saturday and crawled into the midst of a lumber sawing gang, composed of George E. Booth and others, before the men were aware of their presence, says the Boonville Democrat. Fighting for their safety, the men killed eighteen big rattlers, with eight to fifteen rattles, and fifty-five blue racers that measured from five to seven feet, many others escaped into the rocks after the slaughter had progressed for half an hour.

The bluffs near Rocheport have long been noted for the number and size of the venomous reptiles that infest them.

It is a historical fact, cited in Switzler's History of Missouri, that Lewis and Clark's exploring party camped for a while near Rocheport, but moved their camp further up the river on account of the myriads of rattlers and other poisonous snakes that crawled from the bluffs and made it dangerous to remain in the vicinity.

White House Renovated.

When William Howard Taft steps into the White House at noon on the 4th of March as the new president of the United States of America, he will find a model home equipped with every modern convenience; that is what other presidents have never enjoyed. Before the election of President Roosevelt few changes had been made in the White House since the days of John Quincy Adams, when it was rebuilt after being fired by the marauding British troops, only the walls being left standing.

The executive mansion, as it was called before the advent of Mr. Roosevelt—he dubbed it officially "The White House"—was the first public building erected at the seat of government. The architect was James Hoban, who drew his plans closely after those of the seat of the duke of Leinster, near Dublin, Ireland. George Washington, himself, selected the site, laid the corner stone on October 13, 1792, and lived to see the building completed. John Adams, however, was the first president to occupy it, which he did in 1800.—From "New Home of Mr. Taft," in Technical World Magazine.

WALK-OVER SHOES

THE LAST IMPRESSION

It's the last impression that a man gets of a pair of shoes that decides whether or not he is going to buy the same brand again.

No matter how well they may look when new, if they lose their shape or wear out quickly, the store that sold them cannot expect to sell another pair to the same customer.

We sell shoes that are of the "come again" kind, in other words, WALK-OVER shoes.

JUST A MATTER OF NERVE.

How Lovesick Washington Youth Got Introduction to Charmer.

Not so very long ago when a certain musical comedy company was in town a well known youth of the city was in a very hard way. No one exactly knew the cause of the soulful looks that he emitted on occasion, but he kept it no secret that he went to the theater as much as every night in the week to see the same show.

Of course no one on earth could keep a secret forever, especially a lovelorn youth. And accordingly, with great air of mystery, he took somebody into his confidence. But all the same he told it as though he were proud of it. Yes, the great secret was out. He was desperately infatuated with one of the leading sopranos of the musical comedy company.

So far so well. But the worst was yet to come. He hadn't met the object of his adoration yet. No. To be sure, he couldn't think of waiting at the stage door with the rest of the Johnnies and ask her to take supper with him. No, indeed. That couldn't be thought of. But he had been so bold as to send her several bunches of American Beauties at ten bucks a throw with little notes inclosed. But, worse luck, she hadn't seen fit to answer the notes. So, coming to the point of his long preamble, could his friend do anything for him?

Why certainly, that was what friends were for. He would introduce him to her that very night.

Lifted on the wave of ecstasy, the lovesick swain took his friend to dinner and afterward to the theater. Then after the show they waited in front of the stage entrance until the divinity should appear. It seemed hours, but at last they saw her coming down the alleyway.

The lovesick one's heart nearly stopped beating and then he saw his friend step up to the fair one.

"Miss X——," he heard him say. "I would like to have you meet my friend Mr. A——"

"I am very glad to meet you, Mr. A——," she said, giving him her hand.

It was done now and still he wasn't too paralyzed to murmur some appropriate greeting, when—what was that she was saying as his friend had started away?

"But who is going to introduce you?"

"Oh," said the accommodating friend, "Bobby is the one who wanted to meet you; I don't."—Washington Star.

HISTORIC NAMES AT CAPITAL.

Washington Contains Many Descendants of Famous Men.

Washington fairly buzzes with great historic names, and one might think that time had turned backward to hear the solemn announcements at the official levees. There is one bearer of a great name in Washington who has been so modest that only latterly have people begun to realize exactly who he is. This is Baron Germain de Stael-Holstein, great-grandson of the famous Mme. Anna Louise Necker de Stael, author, patriot and philosopher. The baron is second secretary of the Russian embassy, and lives the quiet life of a student. He is almost middle aged, but it still a bachelor. Though he has inherited all the mental brilliancy which distinguished his great ancestress he has none of her social talents. Baron de Stael-Holstein mingles in the gay throng just enough to fulfill his obligations, and the remainder of his days is passed in reading and enjoying music. He is fair and of medium height and not unlike the most famous woman of modern times in appearance. The children of Mme. de Stael by her first unhappy marriage were early separated from her, and the father of the present Russian diplomat left Sweden and joined his fate and fortune with the Muscovite empire. He became high in councils of state, as no doubt will his son. For Russian diplomacy moves in grades, like the military life of this country.

NEVER BEAT Your Carpets

It is a mistake to beat carpets; no one ever made one really clean that way. Beating only loosens up the dirt, instead of getting rid of it, and cuts the threads and stretches the fabric as well. Neither is it possible for you to watch your carpets without fading the colors and causing them to lose their brightness.

The best solution is to let us clean your carpets for you. None of the above faults can be found with our method. It is sanitary, removes every particle of dirt and freshens up the colors like new.

Call 126 and we will send our wagon for your carpets and deliver them after they have been cleaned.

THE RURAL FIRE DEPARTMENT.

What Happened When Resident Sent Hurry Call to Lonelyville Fire Chief.

Billups smelled smoke, and investigation divulged the dread fact that his house was on fire.

Now, inasmuch as Billups lives off in the country, two miles away from the hose company, he became very much agitated, and ran at once to the telephone. After ringing three or four times he connected with old Si Hopkins, the fire chief of Lonelyville.

"That you, Silas?" he cried agitatedly over the wire.

"Ya-as, who's this?" came the answer.

"Why, I'm Billups. My house is on fire, and—"

"Who'd you say?"

"Billups, old man. For the love of heavens, hurry the engine over here. My house is on fire."

"Whose haouse d'ye say?"

"Mine, 'Billups'."

"Wa'al, I wanter know. Who sot it?"

"I don't know, but ring the alarm, will you? And send the boys up quick."

"Wa'al, I dunno as I kin, Mr. Billups. My wife, she's got the key to the firehouse, and she's gone daown t' Sallie's house for supper. Besides, Bill Jones, he's gone to Centerville to buy a kyow, an' Jim, he's daown to Missus Hollberry's place pickin' cherries."

"Well, for heaven's sake, do something, can't you?" roared Billups.

"Wa-al, I'd like t' oblige ye spuire, but I dunno as I kin. Leastways not till to-morrer mornin'."

"To-morrow morning be hanged, Hoskins! The house is burning now."

"Wa-al, mebbe I might git up some time this evening, Mr. Billups."

"This evening nothing! Why, the roof's ablaze at this very moment."

"Wa-al, I tell ye, squire, if it's as bad as that, what I think ye'd better do—"

"Well, go on! I'm listening."

"Got a postage stamp?"

"Yes."

"Wa-al, preaps ye'd better stick it onto an envelope and send word to th' insurance people. If it's got to th' roof they ain't much use o' my coming out. If ye want me to, I'll send my boy Willie up after the letter, an' he kin take it daown to the post-office an' mail it for ye."

"You be—" began Billups, but he didn't finish. The fire had reached the telephone wires and destroyed the connection.—New York Herald.

Brought Old Man to Time.

The young man had asked the father for his daughter and been refused.

"Then you will not give me Jane?" he hoarsely demanded.

"I didn't speak in Volapuk, did I?" sneered Jane's father.

The young man paused at the door.

"I am considered a good looking fellow," he said. "Ladies turn and stare after me as I pass along the street. Your cook smiled at me to-night as I lingered at the side door. I returned the smile. Now I will follow up this favorable impression. I will make love to the cook—in a week we will elope!"

The old man turned pale.

"Don't talk like that," he gasped. "You wouldn't be cruel enough to rob us of our cook. No, no; not another word. Jane is yours!"

Tone and Tune.

When your vitality is low you need "toning up." Why not "tuning up?" Same thing. We are all pianos, just a mass of sounding boards, keys and strings. We get out of tune and tone; we run down, just like an eight-day clock, and require rewinding. Look at your wife to-morrow morning and see if she is out of tune. If she is cross you will say she got out of bed with the wrong foot foremost. Not a bit of sense in that. She simply got up from her night's rest out of tune, or tone. Tune her up! Tone her up! In her finest health she may be a G sharp; when not so well she may be at D. Have your family kit of tuning irons; give her a test; then bring her up to pitch.—New York Press.

PASTORS AND NEWSPAPERS

Could Not Compete With 3 Breweries and 136 Saloons.

Joliet, Ill., April 22.—Mayor John R. Cronin and the entire democratic city ticket were elected Tuesday by majorities ranging from 200 to 500 in a total of over 7,200.

The contest was one of the most bitterly fought in the history of the city. Back of the republican ticket were the three daily newspapers of the city and most of the pastors of the churches.

On the other side were three breweries and the 136 saloons, with all the forces they could control. The city is naturally democratic, but party lines were badly shattered.

Tuesday night the victors celebrated. Great crowds of cheering men paraded the streets and serenaded the newspaper offices.

The principal issue in the campaign has been the question of enforcing the Sunday closing law, which has been a dead letter in Joliet for twenty years past.

White House Dances to Continue.

When the merits of the Roosevelt administration are taken stock of from a social viewpoint two ideas come forward, horses and dancing. No executive in recent times has given an impetus to the horse as the present. No one has ever been so identified with dancing as Mrs. Roosevelt. At the dances which have been given every alternate Friday Mrs. Roosevelt has appeared on the floor as often as her daughter. The president has shown that he can be as strenuous on the carpet as elsewhere. Dancing having been established, it will no doubt be continued throughout the next administration. The president elect is as light on his feet as a girl of 16 and Mrs. Taft just dotes on dancing. The Clevelands never gave a dance and the Harrisons only one. The new order is entirely satisfactory if it becomes part of White House tradition.—New York Press.

His Body to Lie in State in Capitol in Hartford Until the Funeral Is Arranged—Troops Are on Duty at the Mansion.

Hartford Conn., April 22.—George Leavens Lilley governor of Connecticut, died at the executive mansion at 7:26 o'clock last night, after battling with disease for four weeks.

The end came peacefully, as the distinguished patient did not regain consciousness from the coma in which he had lain for many hours, and which was the result of acute nephritis and its attendant complications.

As soon as the sad news was spread abroad the fire bells of Hartford sounded the age of the dead governor—49—and a detachment of the first company, Governor Foote Guards immediately was mustered to go on duty at the executive mansion.

The funeral will be held from Trinity church, Hartford, but the time is yet to be fixed. The body prior to the funeral will lie in state in the capitol.

The attending physicians announce that the immediate cause of death was toxisemia, the result of acute nephritis, with valvular disease and hypertrophy.

National Nicknames.

Like individuals, the nations of the earth have nicknames. The appropriateness of some is quite evident; but to explain the origin of others would be difficult.

Englishmen have submitted to the name of John Bull, as suited to the national character. A Scotsman is Sandy; the Irishman gets his nickname, Paddy, from his national patron saint; while an ancient nursery rhyme records the fact that Taffy was a Welshman. In England the Frenchman is sometimes rather contemptuously alluded to as John Crepaud; but in France he is Jacques Bonhomme, or, as a bourgeois, Monsieur Prudhomme.

Cousin Michel is the nickname by which the German is known to the continental nations. Mynheer Closh, in abbreviation of Nicholas, is the name applied to Hollanders; and the Switzer rejoices in the name of Colin Tampon.—The Sunday Magazine.

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and stengthened their systems, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthful manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free. Origin of Julienne Soup.

In hotels and restaurants we invariably find "Julienne" soup and "Julienne" potatoes, both of which are universal favorites. Nearly 70 years ago in Boston a Frenchman by the name of Julien kept a famous eating place on Milk street, almost opposite the door of Old South church. Here the elite of the city used to gather; in fact, it was Boston's Delmonico. A modern iron front building has replaced the quaint gabled structure and few remember the one-time popular rendezvous. Julien invented the soup which was called for him and, I suppose, the potatoes, although it was the soup that made him famous. He is buried in the old graveyard on the Common, forgotten, perhaps, but it is interesting to know that his name survives on nearly every dinner table in the land.

People buy Billiken and set him on their desks and on their mantels, and in their dens and send him to friends; also for favors at parties and cotillions, as prizes at whist and euchre. The only place you can buy this god of good luck is at West's Book Shop.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—Employers will be protected against the wiles of their stenographers, for Assemblyman Ledvina's bill providing for such protection was ordered engrossed and read the third time in the assembly yesterday.

Mr. Ledvina was absent, but his bachelor friends saw that the bill was properly passed after a division had been called for and a rising vote taken.

TELL OF HISTORIC SPOTS.

Memorial Tablets on Washington Houses of Interest to Visitors.

Visitors to Washington find the city spotted with small wooden tablets, made in imitation of bronze, erected by a committee of citizens under the direction of the inaugural committee. These tablets mark certain historic places, buildings in which famous men once lived or worked, sites upon which their homes stood, hotels and churches identified with the lives of statesmen, the scenes of important happenings. There are in all nearly 200 of these markers, every one of them interesting. Studied by the stranger with catalogue in hand, they disclose the long historic perspective of Washington. They present the story of the national capital as it is written in the records of men and events.

Many of the landmarks are passing from view, for Washington is in a state of change. It is growing rapidly, and its growth involves sacrifices. The older buildings are being replaced by new ones, and steadily the urban area is extending into the suburbs and the newness of modern residence and apartment house construction is enveloping the territory. In a few years, unless permanent marks are established, most of the historic buildings will have been swept away, without traces left to note their existence.

The committee on marking points of historic interest has this year produced a form of marker strongly suggestive of a permanent bronze tablet. If, in fact, these wooden tablets were thus replaced with enduring metal a visit to Washington would be far more intersting and instructive than at present during ordinary times. It is due to the people from the states, who regard the capital as, in a measure, their own city, that its points of historic significance should be permanently identified. Incidentally it is well to keep the Washingtonians themselves posted on the many items of local history.

A fund to establish bronze tablets, according to some such scheme as that followed for this inauguration, would be a profitable investment. But it should be a public expenditure, not private. The government itself should undertake the work.

Somewhat Irreverent.

A Washington educator is telling a good story about a young medical friend of his who is interested in insanity symptoms and is a sort of amateur alienist. The other day the student got a chance to visit one of the wards in the Asylum for the Insane, and having heard that there was a man confined there who labored under the hallucination that he was God, the student asked that he be allowed to see this patient first, as he appeared the most promising for investigation. He was taken to the ward where the lunatic was confined and the following conversation ensued:

Student—Are you the Deity?

Lunatic—From the everlasting unto everlasting I am he.

Student—Well, I've been looking for you for a long time. I have a question to ask you. How do you reconcile the doctrines of predestination and free will?

The lunatic drew himself up to his full height and giving the medico a scornful glance, replied: "My dear sir, I never talk shop."

THIS FELLOW YELLED "FIRE"

When Rat Bit Him on Toe and Cruel Police Jailed Him.

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—Claiming that a rat bit him on the toe while he was sitting on a curbstone, Wm. Casey asked the judge in the police court to dismiss him for having shouted "fire" on the streets at midnight.

Casey testified that he sat down to hammer a nail in his shoe with a rock, when a large rat bit him. He said he "just yelled fire" and ran. The police caught him and placed him under arrest.

Judge Harlan His Son's Twin.

The most remarkable likeness between any two men in America, not barring twins, exists between Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court and his son, John Maynard Harlan, a Chicago lawyer and politician. Except for the disparity of their ages, the two men are the exact counterpart of each other—same height, weight and contour of face, even to the mustaches, when both wear this masculine adornment. And the resemblance does not end here, for both father and son have high foreheads with the same thinning of the hair on the temples.

The condition of the health has much to do with moods, and there is nothing that contributes so much to health as absolute regularity.

TRAFFIC IN SMUGGLING

DRESSMAKERS OF MUCH PROMINENCE ARE SAID TO BE INVOLVED.

DEVELOPMENTS ARE ANXIOUSLY AWAITED

Government's Loss in Duties Through Operations in Last Year Are Put at $1,000,000 as a Low Estimate.

New York, April 22.—The smuggling operations which have been conducted at the port of New York by means of trunks left on the steamship piers until they could be removed without detection, are now alleged to have ben carried on by a firm of importers of silks and dressmakers' supplies of this city.

The firm, which has an office in Paris, is said to have acted as a clearing house in this country for American dressmakers scattered throughout the country, who received the goods so smuggled by the payment of 15 per cent instead of 60 per cent in custom duties.

It is understood proceedings will be instituted against these dressmakers. In this connection it is stated that seven special agents of the customs house in this city were ordered to be dismissed a few days ago.

The firm in question is understood to be one of a dozen firms which has been engaged in the illicit traffic for a year, through which the government has suffered a loss amounting to $1,000,000 a year.

It wa in connection with the investigation of these cases that an offer of $260,000 was recently made to Collector Loeb to discontinue the inquiry and surrender the smuggled goods.

HERPICIDE'S MISSION.

It Takes Away the Dread of Birthdays.

Nothing is more annoying to men and women of middle age than to see those unmistakable signs of age—thin hair and grayness—approaching. But science has discovered that these conditions are no longer, "unmistakable" evidences of old age, for the dandruff germ theory proves that even very young people may suffer hair loss, while those fortunate enough to escape the ravages of the scalp germ, retain their abundant locks to a ripe old age. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and removes the risk of appearing old before your time. Save your hair and your feelings, by using the genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Bishop's Good Advice.

"Bishop Potter was a wonderfully effective preacher," said a Brooklyn clergyman. "His method was reserved and quiet. He always had himself well in hand.

"I once delivered a sermon before him. I was young and enthusiastic at the time, a disciple of the methods of Talmage. I let myself out in that sermon. My voice shook the church. My gestures shook the pulpit.

"At luncheon, afterward, I am ashamed to say that I fished for compliments. I leaned over the bishop and asked him in a low voice to give me some advice on preaching.

"Dear knows what I expected him to reply—probably that I was beyond any advice from him. At any rate, what he did reply was this:

"'My dear young friend, never mistake, in the pulpit, perspiration for inspiration.'"

A Generous People.

"This is a foine country, Bridget!" exclaimed Norah, who had recently arrived in the United States. "Sure it's generous everybody is.

"I asked at the post office about sindin' money to me mither, and the young man tells me I can get a money order for ten dollars for ten cents! Think of that now!"—Youth's Companion.

Beyond Pardon.

"Why are you so violently indignant with that office holder?"

"Because," answered the boss, "I have reliable information that he has been grafting."

"But you surely ought to be able to forgive that."

"No, I can't. He grafted for himself instead of for me."

WALL PAPER AT McCLELLAN'S.

Elderly People Helped Free

The last years of life are the sweetest, and yet the most difficult to prolong. It is then that the greatest care is exercised in maintaining bodily health. But the chief care should always be with regard to the food you eat and whether you are digesting it properly. You should not allow yourself to become constipated.

No doubt you have tried salts and cathartic pills, purgative tablets, etc., and have come to the conclusion that they are violent in action and do but temporary good. Listen, then, to the voice of experience with regard to a wonderful and mild laxative, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is not new, only we are trying to find new friends for it.

A. A. Felts, of Johnston City, Ill., suffered from stomach trouble for six years and found his cure in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. His wife uses it too with success. We could name hundreds of others. Some heard of it first through neighbors or friends; others through the doctor's offer to send any sufferer from a stomach, liver or bowel complaint a free sample bottle for trial, without charge. If you will send your name and address he will send you a trial bottle direct to your home. If it proves itself as he claims then continue the treatment by buying a 50-cent or $1 bottle of your druggist, as all of them sell it. Old people, like children, should look for purity, and it is well to mention that the purity of this remedy is vouched for with the U. S. government. Also, though a free bottle is sent to prove its merits, results are always guaranteed from the regular bottles bought of druggists, who will refund your money if it does not satisfy you. Send at least for the free test bottle today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

REWARDED FOR HIS TRUSTING.

Shoemaker's Faith in Providence Evidently Was Not Misplaced.

The pastor of a negro church in a southern state was one day making his weekly visit, when he dropped in upon a member of his congregation who was a shoemaker. The preacher was surprised to find that his parishioner, usually of a bright and lively demeanor, was on this occasion in an extremely despondent mood.

"Well, doctah," explained the shoemaker, sadly, in response to the divine's question, "I'se just got a rival shoemaker dat's set up ag'nst me down the street, an' mah trade is already beginning to leave!"

"Come, come, man," expostulated the clergyman, "you mustn't allow yourself to be cast down like that! Meet your trouble like a man, and, above all, trust to Providence and all will come right."

When, on the next round of visits the minister called again on the shoemaker, he was delighted to find the cobbler as cheery and gay as ever he was.

"I told you your troubles would vanish if you trusted in Providence, didn't I?" demanded the preacher.

"That's right!" quickly assented the other. "And I took your advice." Then, after a bit, he added, significantly, "The other shoemaker's dead!"—Harper's Weekly.

Curious Mourning Custom.

A curious mourning custom obtains among central Australians, who, although representing, perhaps, the lowest and most degraded type of human beings, have managed to evolve a most complex system of rites and ceremonies, which governs almost every action of their lives. When a husband dies, the widow paints herself all over with white pigment, and for the space of a year must not exhibit herself to a male member of the tribe on pain of death. For the rest of her life, unless she marries again, which is sometimes allowed, she must not speak, but communicate with the other women by means of a sign language, consisting of movements of the hands and fingers, which has been developed by these savages to a marvelous extent, and by which their limited stock of ideas can be fully expressed.

A guaranteed cough remedy is Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup. For coughs, colds, whooping cough, hoarseness and all bronchial affections. Best for children because it is quick to relieve and tastes good. Gently laxative. Sold by the W. E. Bard Drug Co.

THE "ROYAL" GETS $5,000

Will Be Expended in Paying Stock Prizes at the Show.

The Kansas City Star of Wednesday afternoon had the following special dispatch from Jefferson City:

"Senator Wilson's bill to appropriate $5,000 for the Royal Stock show in Kansas City was passed by the senate this morning. Senator Wilson said the money was to be used to pay for prizes awarded to stock at the show.

"Senator Wilson said there were 45,000 persons who saw the show last year. He declared that it is the greatest show in the country, and nothing the legislature could do would be more useful to the farmers than the passage of this bill.

"Senator Eads, of Daviess county, and Senator Dowell, of Lewis county, were the only senators who voted against the bill."

PICTURE SHOWS SCORED

By Judge After Youngsters Emulated Hold-Up Scenes.

Chicago, Ill., April 22.—Four boys who had held up and robbed two other boys, after having witnessed the portrayal of a thrilling robbery at a moving picture show, were before Judge Pinckney in the juvenile court for judgment. After hearing the evidence in the case Judge Pinckney said:

"The nickel theatre is getting to be a great nuisance and a detriment in the bringing up of children."

The boys were paroled. They are Roland Yort, 15 years old; Leo Skoles, 16; Frank Dedic, 15, and Joseph Turynia, 16 years old.

Should Genuine Heroes Be Dead?

Real heroes are like Sherman's definition of "good Indians;" they are all dead. They commit suicide as heroes by appearing in the music halls, by qualifying as professional athletes, by giving out too many newspaper interviews, by yielding too readily to the camera, by succumbing to kissing bees, by becoming too strong to work—in one method or another by seeking to capitalize the admiration of the moment into permanent maintenance and support. If they escape suicide they are asphyxiated by the adulation of mankind or extinguished in its speedy forgetfulness.—New York Mail.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO SOON TO BECOME SYSTEM OF 11,588 MILES.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources For the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Another big railway merger apparently is on the verge of consummation.

Negotiations which have been in progress for several months for the taking over by the Baltimore & Ohio of the remnants of what for a brief period was known as the Great Central system, are approaching completion.

The parts of the Great Central system to which the Baltimore & Ohio is to fall heir are the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the Pere Marquette roads, the former of which is in the hands of a receiver.

With these two roads added to its present trackage of 8,189 miles, the Baltimore & Ohio will become a system of 11,588 miles of main track.

President Taft to Investigate.

President Taft yesterday took up for investigation and promised to act at once on a complaint filed with him alleging that the western railroads are discriminating against Salt Lake City, Ogden and other inter-mountain cities in the matter of freight rates, and violating the anti-trust laws.

The charges were made by Senators Smoot and Sutherland and Representative Howell, all of Utah. They asked that the matter be taken up by the department of justice rather than by the interstate commerce commission.

Trainmen as Witnesses.

F. D. Lister, a Missouri Pacific conductor; C. M. Biddie and H. A. Walker, engineer; Tom Stoneman, fireman, and John Anderson, brakeman, went to Lee's Summit this morning to testify at the coroner's inquest regarding the killing of H. H. Martin near that town recently.

Menace to the Brotherhoods.

Members of the orders of railway conductors and engineers on the Santa Fe are aroused over the advent of a motor car.

The grievance committees have demanded that the company place none but organization men in charge of the car.

Died on Her Husband's Train.

John Heinbach, engineer at the throttle of a train on the Philadelphia & Reading railway, last night was signaled to stop and was notified that his wife had just died in one of the coaches of the train. Death resulted from heart disease.

Back to "Ham and Eggs."

Virgil Bryant, the Missouri Pacific fireman, has re-entered the employ of Eddie McGurren, the caterer, succeeding Ben Whalen.

Engineer Moves Family.

E. F. Lewis, a Missouri Pacific engineer, and family, have moved from 1109 East Ninth street to 1023 East Broadway.

Automatic Couplers.

Ben Walker, a Katy passenger conductor, was a passenger north on train No. 2 today.

J. P. Rodeman, traveling freight agent for the Missouri Pacific, went to Boonville today.

Superintendent N. J. Finney, of the Katy, returned this morning from a business visit at Parsons, Kan.

F. K. Tutt, of St. Louis, master mechanic for the Missouri Pacific, came in from Kansas City at noon today.

E. Hammer, of the water service department of the Missouri Pacific, made a business trip to Holden today.

Superintendent A. E. Boughner, of the Katy, returned to Franklin Junction today, after visiting his family here.

E. M. Dennis, trainmaster for the Missouri Pacific, and wife, returned this morning from a visit in St. Louis.

George Ferrell, an M., K. & T. conductor, who has been attending the Masonic meetings at Kansas City, returned home this afternoon.

Missouri Pacific train No. 1, due here at 2:30 p. m., was run in two sections this afternoon, the second section carrying capitalists to California.

G. W. Smith, superintendent of machinery for the Missouri Pacific, passed through Sedalia on train No. 1 this afternoon, en route to Kansas City.

A. D. Bethard, vice president and general manager of the M., K. & T., in special car No. 36, passed through Sedalia this morning, en route to St. Louis.

Rube Oglesby, a member of the state board of railroad and ware house commissioners, passed through here this afternoon, on his way to Jefferson City.

The Katy has issued an order requiring passengers holding tickets from Boonville to Franklin and New Franklin to show and give them up as they enter the cars.

The residence of W. R. Elkins, Missouri Pacific section foreman at Warrensburg, was entered Tuesday night and $17 in cash, a watch and part of a sack of flour were taken. The indications point to local talent having done the job.

Choosing a Vocation.

It is very certain that no man is fit for everything; but it is almost certain, too, that there is scarcely any one man who is not fit for something, which something nature plainly points out to him by giving him tendency and propensity to it. I look upon common sense to be to the mind what conscience is to the heart—the faithful and constant monitor of what is right or wrong. And I am convinced that no man commits either a crime or a folly but against the manifest and sensible representations of the one or the other. Every man finds in himself, either from nature or education—for they are hard to distinguish—a peculiar bent and disposition to some particular character; and his struggling against it is the fruitless and endless labor of Sisyphus. Let him follow and cultivate that vocation; he will succeed in it, and be considerable in one way at least; whereas, if he departs from it, he will, at best, be inconsiderable, probably ridiculous.—Lord Chesterfield.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 127.

The brewers spend money here in Sedalia to tell us how much more booze is drank in DRY states than in WET ones, and now that we are trying to get the state dry so their business will be GOOD they hire special cars, and put their "little tools" in the cars and send them up to Jefferson City to say their little speech before the senate. We can't understand just why the brewers would try to injure their own business by trying to keep the state WET. Why not get behind this prohibition movement and have a real "crackin good business." Imagine when the brewers went to these dignified people and talked about like this: "Boys, put on a clean collar and wash your face and get in our special car and go up to Jefferson City and tell them this: "More liquor is sold in DRY states than WET states—high taxes." "Are you going to take my personal liberty away from me just as you have done for horse stealing, highway robbery, etc.; why, you fool senators don't know it will double your taxes if you stop sending the citizens of your district to the penitentiary on commission?" And please remember, if they ask you who paid for the car you came in—you forgot your NAME, PLACE OF RESIDENCE, and start over again on the next verse of "HIGH TAXES," PERSONAL LIBERTY," etc. And don't forget the chorus, "more liquor is sold in dry territory than WET territory; and if they ask you why are you trying to keep the state wet, FORGET your NAME and WHERE you are, and start in on the third verse, "HIGH TAXES," etc.

H. S. Bonsib, the Flying Dutchman from Indiana, will speak tonight at the First Christian church. If you think that ALL the Germans are "wet," come and hear one that is DRY. Being a German and "dry" hardly seems reasonable, but you will see and hear that there is such a compound IS known to science. The scientists of Germany are now taking the lead and are proving that alcohol is a poison and not a food.

WOMAN DIVEKEEPER ON TRIAL

With Son, "Lib" Lucas Is Accused of Murdering Farmer.

Mount Carmel, Ill., April 22.—"Lib" Lucas, keeper of a dive on the Wabash river front, and her son, Jesse, yesterday were on trial in the circuit court for the murder of Clyde Showalter, three years ago.

Showalter, a prosperous young farmer, came to Mount Carmel on a Saturday and drew $600 from the bank. He disappeared and offers of large rewards for news of him brought no response. A year later his body was found in the river. Weights had been attached to Showalter's boots.

A few months ago a prisoner in the Pontiac, Ill., reformatory made a statement that on the night Showalter disappeared he, with a girl, passed the Lucas home; that he saw Jesse Lucas strike down Showalter with a club; that Lucas and his mother then went through Showalter's pockets, weighted the body and threw it into the river. Three women that lived at the Lucas place have told the police similar stories.

Says the London Chronicle: "It is not only by means of ships that America has gone to the rescue of Sicilians. Visitors from the western hemisphere to Rome, albeit making no long stay, are using their wealth lavishly in the work of rescue. We hear of one family alone receiving six earthquake children into their house, and giving shelter to 16 more elsewhere. The committees of relief are composed from every nation that gathers in Rome for winter and spring. All gayeties are suspended, and the embassies have put their merely social offices aside."

ACTOR KILLED BY A GIRL

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT TO RIVAL.

INVITED THE MAN TO CALL AT HER HOME

Pistol Shots Called Members of Family, Who Found Her Kissing Body —"He Made Me Do It," the Only Explanation Given.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 22.— Earl P. Adams, a well known actor, who for several months has been connected with the Mabel Paige company, traveling in the south, and who for the past eight months has been taking a leading part and acting as stage director for the company, was shot and killed by Miss Jessie Brown at her home in the fashionable section of Jacksonville.

The girl is in jail and is hysterical. She is a sister of May Brown, who was shot dead in court here on Feb. 13, 1905, by Owen Loadholts. The latest tragedy followed the announcement of the engagement of Adams to another girl.

Adams had been paying attentions to Miss Brown, but a short time ago they had a dispute and he stopped visiting her home. The quarrel, however, was patched up, and it was expected that they would be married.

Monday afternoon this announcement was published:

"Mr. and Mrs. William Bagley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bagley, to Mr. Earl P. Adams. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride, 122 East Monroe street, about June 1, the Rev. V. W Shields officiating."

This announcement was read to Miss Brown and she sent a note to Adams, asking him to call at her home.

Mr. Ada went to the Brown home about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the young couple were alone in the parlor when the shots were heard.

Relatives and friends ran into the room, finding Adams lying on the floor with the girl lying across his body kissing him.

Miss Brown would give no reason for the tragedy, saying only: "He made me do it."

When Sheriff Bowden reached the scene the girl, who is 22 years of age and very pretty, was still lying across Adams' body, weeping and kissing him. She was taken to the county jail, where, according to the sheriff, she at first sat quietly with her face buried in her hands, as though in a dream. She refused to make any statement.

Late Tuesday night Miss Brown became hysterical and physicians were called in to give her medical attention. Fearing that she might do herself bodily harm, physicians remained with her throughout the night.

Miss Bagley is a very popular young woman and as a result of the tragedy is in a state of nervous prostration. She refuses to make a statement.

Adams was one of the most popular actors traveling in the south in the stock business. He had traveled with several well known companies and was well known here before coming to this city to make his home. He was appearing this week in "Why Women Sin," and was making quite a hit. The show was put on Tuesday night with Manager Ritchie taking Adams' part.

The tragic ending of Jessie Brown's romance recalls the unhappy love affair and death of her elder sister, May. They lived with their mother, Mrs. Joseph H. Freeman. Owen Loadholts became May's sweetheart. In January, 1905, she called on him to induce him to marry her. The matter came before Judge Farris, who, after hearing all the testimony, said he would continue the case to obtain further evidence.

Mrs. Freeman arose and said she was going to have satisfaction immediately. She procured a revolver and fired twice at Loadholts, who also drew a pistol and then ran behind Judge Farris.

City Detective William B. Cahoon tried to seize the revolver of Loadholts. At the same time someone, supposedly May Brown, shot at Loadholts, but hit the detective, inflicting a serious wound and he dropped to the floor. The bullets continued to fly and Mrs. Freeman fell, with four bullet holes in her breast, and May Brown with one bullet in the brain that caused instant death.

CALLS GOULD A COWARD

ACTOR FARNUM SAYS HE WOULD LIKE TO SMASH MILLIONAIRE'S FACE.

VICTIM'S ANNIHILATION HIS ONLY FEAR

Declares He Never Was Alone With Former Miss Clemmons In His Life—Will Give Deposition Today.

Chicago, Ill., April 22.—"Some one should smash Howard Gould in the face. If it were not for the fact that I might annihilate him I would do it myself."

This was the principal part of Dustin Farnum's answer yesterday to charges made by Mr. Gould that the actor was too friendly with his wife. Mr. Farnum is to give his deposition today in the law offices of Louis E. Ehle in defense of Mrs. Gould, who was Katherine Clemmons, the actress. She is being sued for divorce by her husband.

The actor, who is playing leading part in Cameo Kirby, is said to be one of the most athletic men on the stage.

"Any man who makes such charges against a woman as are made by this Gould person is a despicable coward," said Farnum.

"I met Mrs. Gould about eight years ago in New York. She and other prominent women asked me to take part in a charity affair. I played a short sketch with Miss May Robson.

"After that I met Mrs. Gould accidentally at different times. I never was alone with her in my life.

"That automobile trip mentioned by Gould was as harmless as anything in the world. There were four women, besides myself and the chauffeur, in the party. I accepted the invitation because I love automobiling.

"We went from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, and I enjoyed the trip. At Atlantic City Mrs. Gould was taken ill and was confined to her room. But this illness was not the result of 'booze.' We did not have a single drink of intoxicating liquor on that trip."

Mr. Farnum said his deposition would be a denial of every charge. The actor declared that if there was any way to secure redress from Mr. Gould he certainly would put the matter in the hands of his attorney.

THERE IS MUCH MYSTERY

In the Case of Prince Engalitcheff Anent Divorce Rumor.

New York, April 22.—Considerable mystery attaches to the case of Prince Engalitcheff, Russian vice consul in Chicago, regarding whom it was rumored that he intended to seek a divorce.

On his arrival from France he denied the report and said he and his young son were on their way to join his wife in Chicago, where she was born, the daughter of the wealthy Partridge family. It was learned, however, that the Princess is not in Chicago, and no one seems to know where she is.

The prince was met at the dock on the steamer's arrival by Wm. D. Sargent, of Orange, N. J. his brother-in-law, but inquiries later at Mr. Sargent's home and office as to the whereabouts of the prince and princess brought forth no information.

KIDNAPPED FROM A SCHOOL?

A Chicago Girl Who Got a $17,000 Verdict Is Missing

Chicago, April 22.—Anna May Sheridan, 15 years old, a pupil in the Roman Catholic Assumption school, has disappeared and her parents fear that she has been kidnaped.

She was injured several years ago in an accident and received $17,000 damages, and her father believes that some one who knows she has the money is holding her in the hope of obtaining part of it.

CLOSE OF THE TOURNAMENT

Jos. Paradis Gave T. M. Ehlers Race for the Loving Cup.

The second spring tournament of the Sedalia Gun club was concluded yesterday afternoon late. Herr, who was second in the shoot of the professionals Tuesday, was first yesterday, with a score of 195 out of a possible 200. The other professional scores for the day were: Gilbert, 192; Akard, 191; Rogers, 189; Killam, 181; Hoyt, 176.

In the amateur shoot, McLaughlin was first, with a score of 191 out of a possible 200. The next three highest were Ehler, 188; Beggerman, 187; F. Hoffman, Jr., 182.

The Schmelzer Arms Co.'s loving cup was won by T. M. Ehlers, of Nelson, after he had tied for first place with Joseph Paradis, of Sedalia, and defeated the latter in the shoot-off. Mr. Ehlers killed thirty straight birds in the latter contest, and Mr. Paradis killed twenty-nine, but missed his thirtieth. This was the most interesting event of the contest.

A BRIDE TWICE A WIDOW

Disappeared After Wedding Ceremony —A Guest Also Missing.

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—Shelby V. Armstrong, whose bride disappeared simultaneously with a wedding guest Saturday night immediately after the marriage ceremony, is back in his bachelor quarters. He announced that he hoped his straying bride will never return to this city. Since the disappearance of Mrs. Armstrong the police have been looking for her and the guest, Joseph Russell, but have been unable to find either.

Although Mrs. Armstrong is but 20 years old, she had buried two former husbands before her marriage on Saturday. At the tender age of 13 years she was a widow, having buried her first husband, James Watts. She married Watts when 12 years old.

Mrs. Russell, mother of the missing man, stated to the police that Russell had been home since the Armstrong wedding, but Mrs. Armstrong had not accompanied him.

Armstrong said that he will sue for divorce, charging desertion. The latter is an employe of the street railway company.

DIVORCE IS HELD VOID

The Matrimonial Troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce.

Middletown, N. Y., April 22.—Justice Morschauser, of the supreme court, has granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Hubert R. Boyce, of this city, from his wife, Mrs. Avis Collins Martin Overstreet Boyce, who is now the wife of Senator George Brown, of Atlanta, Ga. The action was not contested.

The couple were married on November 22, 1904. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce were apparently happy until July, 1905, when Mrs. Boyce decided to return to Atlanta.

Later it was found that Mrs. Boyce had secured a divorce from Mr. Boyce, but the latter's attorneys declared that the decree was void, neither they nor Mr. Boyce having received any notice of such an action.

A copy of the certificate of Mrs. Boyce's marriage to Senator Brown was brought back to his city and several residents of Atlanta came north and testified in behalf of Mrs. Boyce.

WIFE WAS TOO YOUNG

For "An Old Man Like Him," So He Tried Suicide in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22.—Following a quarrel with his wife, whom he is said to have declared to be too young for "an old man like him," Anthony C. Ganseman, aged 50, of 2708 Jefferson street attempted suicide in a saloon at Twenty-seventh and Jefferson streets.

He shot himself twice in the temple and slashed his left wrist with a razor. He will probably die. His wife is 25 years his junior.

HANDSOME YOUNG WIFE

Seeks Company of Youths and Hoosier Wants Divorce.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 22.—Because his 22-year-old wife longed for the company of persons her own age, 73-year-old Jerome Copeland, of Noble township, has made application for divorce.

He asks for the custody of their three children, the oldest of whom is 7 year. The couple married when Mrs. Copeland was 15 years of age.

YOUNG HARRY GILMORE

In Danger of Losing Hand Through Blood Poisoning.

Chicago, April 22.—Harry Gilmore, jr., manager of Packey McFarland, is in danger of losing his right hand as a result of a mix-up at the recent big wrestling match.

According to the Gilmores, Harry was hurrying through the aisle at Dexter pavilion, when he stumbled over the foot of Ralph Hoagland, the golfer.

Hoagland, Gilmore says, kicked him on the shin, telling him at the same time to keep off his feet. Gilmore retorted that if he did that again he would swing on him. The kick was repeated.

Harry Gilmore, Sr., then told his son to hand him his coat and swing on the man. Young Gilmore did so and knocked four teeth out of Hoaglands' mouth.

The teeth cut the back of his hand, and two days later the swelling was so bad that young Gilmore consulted a physician, who set to work at once to save the arm, if possible. It was on this account that Gilmore was kept at home when the matching of Nelson and McFarland was on.

Lacerated His Left Hand.

Frank Hall, a carriage driver for A. M. Mackey, while scuffling with a friend at Fisher's restaurant this morning, badly lacerated his left hand by coming in contact with a shatered window pane. The wound necessitated four stitches by Dr. H. L. Barnum.

IS DAY OF DELIGHT

SCHOOL GIRLS ENJOY VISIT TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

Ethel Roosevelt Has Been the Particular Admiration of These Belles-to-Be During the Recent Social Season.

Sweet little maidens all unwary straight from a ladies' seminary, admitted to the White House upon two grand occasions during the season, gloat and glower and gaze upon President Roosevelt's youngest daughter, who, after all, is but one of themselves, until their eager young eyes pop, writes a Washington correspondent. Each ambitious little creature realizes in her soul her own potentiality to be an Ethel courted and kow-towed to, the idol, even pro tem., of the nation. It's only through a fluke of fate that she herself isn't an Ethel. Sweet little Ethel with the merry, twinkling eyes and the towsley hair is the materialization of almost every girlish dream—till Helen comes. Then ladies change and all hands round!

An altruistic White House management provides that all boarding school girls in Washington over the age of 18 years shall have the opportunity to attend one of the four state receptions of the season. The names of the eligibles are presented to Mr. Loeb early in the winter by the principals of the various colleges. Invitations to scholastic circles are issued almost exclusively to the two middle levees, the judiciary and the army and navy. Adolescence figures sparingly, or not at all, at the two more august functions of the series, the diplomatic, at the beginning, and the army and navy, at the end. Tickets for these two spectacular affairs are at a premium always.

Where the attendance is large at any special school, half the senior girls are invited to one reception and half to the next. It is a supreme event to most of these favored ones, entered upon with almost as much trepidation as their debut or their bridal. "I'm scared to death," a sweet girl from Tennessee declared as the "single fire" order came to those in line just before the presidential presence was achieved at the congressional reception. "I never shook hands with a president in my life before! Is my wig straight? Is my placket shut? Ain't it awful, Mabel! Whew! Here goes!"

Those who watch the self-conscious enfilade of fluttering femininity are amused to note in how many a case, when the fair subject has preened herself for the supreme and crucial moment of passing down before the receiving line alone, she forgets to relinquish her clutch on her petticoats, and the augustness, oft rehearsed, of her long trained entree is entirely lost.

Misunderstood the Dream.

"One of my clients," said a Washington broker the other day, "a considerable trader, and susceptible of influence from almost any direction, came to me one morning with a smiling face and gave an order for the purchase of several thousand shares, saying he had had a wonderful dream in which was depicted a large field containing hundreds of bulls, and he was quite sure it foretold a sharp advance in the market. The order was duly executed at advancing prices, and for the first hour looked very rosy, but, alas, that was an end of the bull market, and at the close of the day the tape showed a marked decline. My client was a popular man and a good loser, being well able to stand it, but as he had told his tale to others in the office, he was unmercifully chaffed, but maintained his dream to have been a 'good tip,' though he had misinterpreted it, as the bulls in the field were all 'lying down.'"

Moslems Welcome the Auto.

There arrived at Bagdad the other day the first postal automobile and it filled the minds of the natives with wonder and awe. The car carried the mails, hitherto borne on camels' backs, from Aleppo, a distance of 625 miles, in 60 hours. This can hardly be called a speed record, but when it is remembered that the roads are rough camel tracks leading through the deep sands of the Syrian desert and the stony plains of Mesopotamia the journey at the rate of little more than ten miles an hour appears quite a creditable performance. The Moslems of these regions, hitherto steeped in the fiercest fanaticism, now gladly intrust parcels and missives to this new ship of the desert.

Senatorial Temper.

A good way to tell the disposition and temperament of a senator is to watch him when he gives the three rings for the senate elevator. The rule is when three are given, no matter who is on the elevator or where it is going, the elevator man must hasten the car in answer to the rings. If the senator who rings is at peace with the world and the White House he will permit the car to go to its destination with the passengers. If the bell ringer is a grouch he compels the car to be stopped, and he has to be carried to his objective point no matter who is aboard or how much hurry they may be in.

WOMEN'S RAID ON 'TIGER'

PASTORS' WIVES AND SOCIETY LEADERS FERRET JOINT IN A "DRY" TOWN.

DENOUNCE THE POLICE IN STRONG TERMS

Effingham, Ill., Band Refuse to Quit Drinking Place at the Order of the Proprietor, Who Took Part.

Effingham, Ill., April 22.—The city election here Tuesday on the question of liquor law enforcement resulted in a delegation of prominent women, wives and relatives of business and professional men making a raid upon a joint run by Fred Rinehardt.

Although saloons were voted out last spring, four "blind tigers" have been running here. Officials have failed to close them and the women decided to take matters into their own hands.

When they entered Rinehardt's place they found one man stretched out drunk and three others sitting at a table drinking liquor.

The women were ordered from the place, but refused to go and stood their ground, telephoning for officials.

Sheriff Jakle and Chief of Police Meeks arrived, but refused to make any arrests, and both were publicly denounced by the women.

The women leading the raid were: Mrs. J. G. Harman, wife of the pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church; Mrs. P. I. Cromwell and Mrs. C. F. Burkhardt, wifes of prominent physicians; Mrs. F. W. Loy, wife of Dr Loy, superintendent of the East St. Louis district of the Anti-Saloon league; Mrs. D. B. Crews, wife of a banker; Mrs. L. H. Bissell, wife of the president of the Illinois College of Photo-Engraving; Mrs. L. H. Broom, wife of a druggist; Mrs. S. E. Rice, Mrs. Grace Jones, Mrs. C. W. Thomason, Miss Kittie Dyke and Mrs. E. J. Haug, wife of the pastor of the Effingham Mission.

Welcome for Pastor and Wife.

The Rev. C. R. Carlos, the new pastor of the Epworth M E. church, was given a hearty welcome by the members of that church at Tillberry's hall last night. One hundred and twenty-five guests attended.

In behalf of the ministers, the Rev. Grant Robbins delivered the address of welcome, while Fred Williams spoke in behalf of the laity. The Rev. W. F. Jones, district superintendent, also extended a welcome to the new divine.

The evening was concluded by serving refreshments, after which all returned home, happy to have made the acquaintance of the Rev. Carlos and wife.

Notice to Rock and Gravel Road Contractors.

Sealed proposals will be received until April 23, 1909, at 4 o'clock p. m., for the construction of the following rock and gravel roads, to be done according to specifications on file with the secretary or the superintendent of the Sedalia special road district.

One-half mile Dresden road, beginning at terminus, thence north.

One-half mile West Main street road, beginning at terminus, thence west.

One-half mile on Southwest road, beginning at terminus, thence southwest.

One-half mile Thatcher's Ford road, beginning at terminus, thence south.

One-half mile Fischer Lake road, beginning at terminus, thence east.

One-half mile Longwood road, beginning at terminus, thence east.

Bids will be received for both rock and gravel on all roads, the board reserving choice.

All bids must be made on blanks obtained from the secretary.

A certified check for $50 must accompany each bid, for each job, checks to be returned to unsuccessful bidders, checks of successful bidders to be returned when contracts are entered into. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.—W. H. Powell, Secretary.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Health Talks

No man is stronger than his stomach. Make your stomach strong and you thereby fortify your system against the attacks of a long list of diseases which originate in the stomach and must be reached, if at all through the stomach. Thus torpid, or lazy liver, biliousness, dyspepsia, impure blood and various skin affections originate in weak stomach and consequent poor nutrition. The same is true of certain bronchial, throat and lung affections.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Strengthens the stomach, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood making it rich, red and vitalizing and thereby curing the above and kindred affections.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insist that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.

Behind Dr. Pierce's Medicines stands the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, thoroughly equipped and with a Staff of Skilled Specialists to treat the more difficult cases of Chronic diseases whether requiring Medical or Surgical skill for their cure. NEW BELLE OF WHITE HOUSE.

Helen Herron Taft Will Be Popular in Washington.

Helen Herron Taft has followed in her father's footsteps in choosing her most intimate friends in Washington from the "army set." What Gen. Bell and Gen. Clarence Edwards are to the new president, young ladies like Miss Ayleshire and Miss Webster are to his only daughter.

At the same time she has formed many close friendships at school, and these ties are bringing Miss Taft an ever-increasing number of invitations to devote her vacations to house parties, and will result in the presence of many youthful residents of many different cities when the time comes for Miss Taft to make her debut in the White House—something for which Mrs. Taft has as yet planned but tentatively.

The newly chosen first lady of the land expects her only daughter to become a White House debutante, of course, but she has also expressed the hope that this social inaugural can be deferred for a year or two, principally because the new president, who is vastly proud of his brilliant and studious daughter, will be disappointed if she does not fulfill the promise made at her entry, when, as mentioned, she won the prize for highest honors in the entrance examinations.

The new White House belle is, like her mother, a member of the Episcopal church. She was reared in the atmosphere of that denomination, almost her first schooling, save for that of German and English tutors, having been obtained at the Cathedral School for Girls.

She was confirmed by the late Bishop Satterlee in a class that also included Miss Ethel Roosevelt and the Misses Julia and Alice von Meyer, daughters of the present postmaster general. At Murray Bay, Miss Taft attended the Union church—representing fusing of all the denominations in the little Canadian church, and now she and her mother will become occupants of the presidential pew, vacated by Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel in St. John's, the quaint ,old-fashioned and exclusive "court church" which rears its red tower directly across the park from the White House.

HISTORIC TREES ARE PASSING.

Little Care Taken to Preserve National Mementoes at Washington.

Old inhabitants of Washington were saddened the other day when the high wind overturned the famous silver spruce which stood guard near the north gate of the White House ever since Old Hickory planted it in the latter days of his administration. The tree has been slowly dying for years and in the hollow trunk gray squirrels had made a perfect tenement. At least six families were evicted by the fall of the silver spruce, but they have found homes in some boxes which Mrs. Roosevelt had fastened to some near-by trees. It is doubtful whether this tree could have been saved, though Jackson enthusiasts now express great indignation that it was permitted to languish.

It seems strange that with the millions of dollars which the government spends on trees and forestry problems so little success is discernible in saving the historic trees of the capital. Some of the most beautiful as well as historic trees have died within the past five years right under the nose, so to speak, of Gifford Pinchot, tree specialist. Other countries save their historic trees, as witness the venerable cypress under which Tasso meditated during his exile to Rome. It has been tenderly nurtured and guarded by the Italian government and iron props and all manner of stays are between it and the fury of the winds on the Janiculum hill. It is now so hoary and so visibly old that it is really one of the most touching sights in Rome. In Washington trees planted by Jefferson, by Alexander Hamilton, by John Marshall and Daniel Webster have been uprooted or have fallen the prey to plant enemy. For theories the government is probably in the lead of all other governments on forestry questions, but as judged from results seen in saving historic trees of Washington, that is another story.

HOW TO GROW FAT

A Lazy Stomach the Cause of Thinness, Nine Times in Ten.

If you are thin or lean, have scrawney arms and neck, you can't grow fat unless your food properly digests.

People take on flesh in proportion to the nutritious matter which the organs of digestion absorb and pass into the blood.

Just as long as this nutritious matter passes along without being absorbed, just so long will you remain thin.

Perhaps your stomach, bowels and liver need a tonic. If your digestion is not perfect Mi-o-na tablets will put it right at once.

Mi-o-na will cure indigestion and every conceivable ailment of the stomach promptly. It cures by building and toning up and not by encouraging a tired stomach to continue its shiftless and health destroying habits. It promptly drives away sour stomach, belching of gas, heaviness after eating.

W. E. Bard Drug Co. sells Mi-o-na for 50 cents a large box, and guarantees it to cure indigestion, sea and car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and all stomach diseases and distress, or money back.

Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

FINEST OF ALL CAPITALS.

America's Seat of National Government Is Supreme.

Men still in good health and full vigor remember Washington as a national capital which had to be explained and apologized for to strangers who knew the great cities of the world. It was a raw, straggling town, with few creditable buildings except half a dozen belonging to the federal government. The streets were paved badly or not at all. Unkempt open spaces were common, and in the best section of the city there was an effect of unfinished plans and good intentions gone to wreck.

Then it was necessary to tell Europeans that the American capital was young; that the states gave most of their money and their pride to their own seats of government; that the country was rather a confederation than a closely knit unit, and that it was urged by many influential persons that the capital ought to be established farther inland and nearer the future center of population. Washington was not even sure of retaining its only claim to the attention of the world.

All this is changed. The multitudes that greeted the new president and enjoyed a magnificent demonstration of national pride and governmental pomp saw one of the finest cities of the earth. They admired some of the noblest structures ever reared for public use. They looked upon a capital worthy of any nation, however old and rich and famous.

It is true that Washington still lacks many improvements. There are crudities to be removed and great plans to be finished. But Washington needs no apologies now. There is no longer any talk of moving the nation's seat of government. The country is too proud of its capital. It understands too well that the beautiful Washington of today is only a hint of the splendid city that is to be.

TAFT HOME PAST AND PRESENT.

White House Not Always the Desirable Abode It Is To-day.

John Adams was the first president to live in the White House. That was the time when the east room was used to dry the family washing. On their way to Washington from Philadelphia Mrs. Adams and her attendants lost their way between Washington and Baltimore. In a letter to her daughter Mrs. Adams described conditions: "Woods are all you see from Baltimore until you reach the city, which is only in name. No wood cutters or carters to be had at any rate. We are now indebted to a Pennsylvania wagon to bring us, through the first clerk in the treasury office, one cord and a half of wood, which is all we have for his house, where 12 fires are constantly required. The vessel which has my clothes and other matters has not arrived. The ladies are impatient for a drawing-room; I have no looking-glasses, but dwarfs for this house, nor twentieth part lamps enough to light it; my tea china is more than half missing. My visitors—some of them—come three or four miles. The return of one of them (the visits) is the work of one day. Mrs. Otis, my nearest neighbor, is at lodging almost half a mile from us. We have not the least fence, yard or convenience without, and the great unfinished audience-room I made a drying-room to hang my clothes."

Whatever may be the occasional harking back to the good old days it is not likely that Mrs. Taft will envy the time when the wife of the second president of the United States had to worry about returning calls at great distances, in addition to such details as the securing of firewood, necessary lamps and means of transportation. While the White House to-day is not all that a modern architect would plan, it is not wholly unlivable, the president's wife is not required to worry about clothes drying. She is provided with a number of modern housekeeping conveniences and her lot is not such a burden as to deter other women from envying her the position of first lady of the land.

ARE GUESTS OF THE CITY

Colonel Young Is Invited to Visit the Town He Once Raided.

Louisville, Ky., April 22.—A particularly unique honor has been conferred upon Colonel Bennett H. Young, of this city. He is going back as the guest of the people of a town that he once terrorized and raided.

He received an invitation from Governor Prouty, of Vermont, and other state officials to become one of the principal speakers at the Champlain tercentenary at St. Albans.

During the civil war Colonel Young, at the head of a band of soldiers, raided St. Albans, the most memorable event in the history of the city. The raid was one of the most celebrated of the civil war, daring in its conception and thrilling in its execution, and is still commented upon widely.

NEVER HARD TO DISTINGUISH.

Visitors to Washington Easily Placed by Hotel Clerk.

"Can you tell what state a person is from when you first meet him, providing he does not tell you?" a Washington apartment house clerk was asked.

"Not so much the state, but certainly the section of the country," was the response. "I would not guarantee to tell a man from Kansas from one from Missouri, but I would know at a glance whether a man was from the north, south, east or west. There is something almost indefinable both in appearance and manner that enables one with experience behind a hotel desk or apartment house register to recognize at once the section of the country a stranger is from, even before a word is spoken. Of course, mistakes can be made, but they are few. It is just the same sort of intuition that a hotel clerk has when he is confronted by some one whom he suspects as a bad customer. He cannot tell why; the person's appearance and manner show not fault that can be pointed out, and yet he feels that the person will need watching, and he rarely goes wrong."

"Can I tell what state a person is from by looking at him?" asked another. "Sometimes. But it is much easier after a few words have passed. I do not mean all states, but there are some ways of telling what state a man is from, and then you can always spot the part of the country a man is from. For instance, there is something breezy about westerners that attracts your admiration. Then, of course, you can always tell a man from New York city. There is no one else that dresses like him or is like him in manner. The men from the south are slouchy in their dress. I do not mean anything uncomplimentary by this. They may be well dressed, but slouchy. They wear slouch hats a great deal, for instance. Then did you ever hear of anybody but a Marylander who would reply: 'Yes, indeed,' or 'Yes, indeedy,' to a question? Of course, everybody knows Virginia talk when he hears it, and in the same way a down-easter is known by his accent."

But if this is only "right much" information on the subject, as some of our neighbors would say, it is "a-plenty," according to others.

Diplomats Are Welcomed.

From the social viewpoint the national capital is to be congratulated on the recent acquisition to the diplomatic corps. Two bachelor ministers, the former Swedish and Danish, have been replaced by envoys who have charming families. In the case of the German ambassador, though Washington will not forget the Von Sternbergs, the new representative of the kaiser has, besides an affable and socially inclined wife, a charming young daughter. Count von Bernstorff and his family are at present domiciled in the Shoreham, awaiting the arrival of their household treasures from Europe. The German embassy, which was entirely dismantled after the death of Baron von Sternberg, is now in a state of renovation and will be newly painted and adorned from basement to turret.

HIT AT PITTSBURG RICH

IDA TARBELL IN A MAGAZINE ARTICLE SCORES GREED IN STRONG TERMS.

STEEL EARNED SUM OF $80,000,000

Rolling Mill Workers Are Ground Down in the Town That Is Benefited Materially by the Protective Tariff.

New York, April 22.—The Pittsburg millionaire carries on his person the stamp of greed, of stupidity and of heartless pride, according to Ida M. Tarbell, but this is due entirely to the tariff privileges he has enjoyed, but not needed, she says.

He has fought for it because he has fattened upon it, insists the Standard Oil's historian, and he now claims he must have it for labor's benefit.

In next month's issue of the American Magazine the noted woman sociologist will discuss Pittsburg as a tariff-made city and what it has done for its workingmen.

"The Smoky City is the greatest monument to high protection in this country," according to Miss Tarbell, "having reaped for forty years, as no other center could, the benefits of prohibitive duties. Its industries have produced more wealth than those of any other section and they have produced enormous fortunes.

"So many, so conspicuous are these fortunes," declares the Tarbell article, "that the recognized American type in Europe and in the United States is the Pittsburg millionaire.

"The tariff was intended to protect the Pittsburg workingman, but statistics show that it has not. They show he works twelve hours a day, seven days in the week and once in two weeks works twenty-four hours. They work, eat and sleep.

"What do they earn for their toil? In the tariff-protected industries, steel and iron, the wages of the greatest number are so low as to be inadequate to the maintenance of living.

"The estimated tariff profits on the steel trust alone in 1907 were $80,000,000. Who got the money? Go look at the steel palaces and chateaux in New York and Paris.

"Go ask the Pittsburg millionaires, who fill the glittering places of pleasure in the great cities of Europe and in this country; who figure in divorce and murder trials or write their names on foundations and bequests to institutions.

"Wealth which comes by privilege kills. The curse of justice on those who will not recognize injustice is the sodden mind, the dulled vision and unfeeling heart."

A tickling or dry cough can be quickly loosened with Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. No opium, no chloroform, nothing unsafe or harsh. sold by the W. E. Bard Drug Co.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Sedalia Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Sedalia citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Jos. Adams, 417 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "For some time I was afflicted with kidney and bladder complaints. I was unable to sleep well and felt tired and worn out nearly all the time. Changeable weather seemed to have a bad effect on my trouble. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Bard's drug store and was helped promptly. I continued until I was rid of every sign of kidney complaint." (Statement given in 1906.)

A Lasting Effect.

On October 15, 1908, Mr. Adams said: "My health has been remarkably good since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I gladly give them my re-endorsement."

"TOM" REFUSES THE PLACE

Business Will Not Permit Service as Police Board Head.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 22—Thomas K. Niedringhaus yesterday called upon Governor Hadley at the executive mansion and informed the latter, that under no consideration would he accept the office of president of the board of police commissioners of St. Louis.

Mr. Niedringhaus was appointed last Saturday, and Monday he addressed a note to the governor thanking him ,but declining the position, saying that it would interfere too much with his business affairs.

"Presidential Station."

Through a vestibule at the north end of the new Union depot at the capital the presidential suite communicates direct with the train shed and concourse—this latter having dimensions 754 by 130 feet, being, it is claimed, large enough to accommodate the entire standing army of the United States. Trains enter this $20,000,000 station on 33 tracks, but Station Master Robey, the "Master of Ceremonies" of the "Presidential Station," plans to always have the presidential specials use the track at the eastern end of the yard nearest the state suite, which will necessitate but a short walk from cars to carriages for the presidential party.

Mrs. Longworth's Shell Rocking Chair.

Curious collections of shells are coming to this side of the water and shells as ornaments in every sort of way are seen in modish homes. Mrs. Longworth is fond of shells, and she got some exceptionally fine necklaces and bracelets in Hawaii. She has a lovely little shell rocking chair. The woodwork is inlaid with tiny iridescent shells and water color landscapes framed in exquisitely tinted shells. Navy men who go to the South seas are begged by their friends for the small opal shell which is seen so much just now strung on gold for necklaces.

For Memorial to L'Enfant.

After having reposed for almost a century in an obscure burial place on the outskirts of Washington, the government shortly will pay tardy recognition to the memory of Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, French engineer and captain and brevet major in the revolutionary army, who had an important part under the direction of Gen. George Washington in designing the original plan of the city of Washington. Arrangements are now being made for the removal of L'Enfant's body to Arlington, where a suitable memorial to him will be erected.

May Build Home at Washington.

Just as Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and one of the country's wealthiest men, is always looked up to as the one man to whom an ambitious inventor may apply with assurance of getting at least a hearing for his case, so John Hays Hammond is regarded by every budding scientist as the assured friend in need. Mr. Hammond has bought a site through agents, it is understood, for a beautiful home in Washington, which will soon be erected.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Standard and registered, Vol XII. Own brother to Benoni 2.22¼, Westfall 2.29¼. Sired by Pretender 1453, he by Dictator 113, sire of Jay-Eye-See 2.06¼. His dam, Sport by Onward 141, is the dam of 3 in the list. This horse has always made the season at $25, but I am going to make the fee in reach of all at the very low fee, $10. Even common mares bred to a horse of this class cannot fail to produce foals that will find a ready market. Individually he is a horse of grand finish and plenty of substance. With a fine dispcsition, dark bay, stands 16 hands, weighs 1200 pounds, bred by S. Black & Son, Frankfort, Ky.
